Hands on learning for parents about Waldorf Early Childhood education

Our Saturday mornings this Spring are designed with a series of workshops for parents while their child will have activity with accompanied adults.

There will be chances with hands on experience of what children do at Garden House; as well as learning about why these activities support children's healthy development preparing them for later academic learning.

We look forward to sharing Garden House's unique curriculum while we have developed in these last ten years. While one parent is involved with the activity time, another care giver can enjoy the activity with children (children must be accompanied by an adult at all time). which is an unstructured play time in our garden, playground and at Silverstrand beach. A teacher will be on hand if you have any needs.

Activity for parents include:

- Circle time
- Free Play time
- Daily activity
- Snack time
- Question and Answer

Activity for children include:

- Garden with rabbits
- Playground time
- Beach fun

Learning Community-Waldorf Workshop

In these workshops, we will focus on the four foundational senses; touch, life, movement and balance. We will guide you through your child first important years of life to look deeper in the qualities and how to strengthen these qualities.

April – Sense of Touch

Parents will have a chance to experience some of the activities that the children do in the classroom such as baking, circle time and free play. Parents will learn how actively engaging with natural materials helps children develop an understanding of themselves and their world.

May – Sense of Life

As parents and teachers we all see how nature brings us peace and brings joy to children. Come learn about the uniqueness of nature and science as applied in Waldorf early childhood programs through nature tables, festivals and stories

June – Sense of Movement and Balance

Waldorf education recognizes that children in the first seven years are busy active beings who learn through doing . Our kindergarten takes time so children can be involved with real life activities which benefits the overall healthy development . As well children are given space and time to be creative and expressive. As children learn more about themselves, they are better able to understand others.

Please prepare all your child's necessities such as water, snack, and toilet needs for all play activity with your child. Coming for an informal time can help a child to feel more secure and help them to build up positive experiences as they transition from attending with a parent to attending alone.
